Chronic Disease Fund (CDF), founded in 2003, is an independent 501(c) (3) non-profit charitable organization that helps patients with more than two dozen chronic disease, cancer and other life-altering conditions obtain the life-saving medications they need. It is limited in the financial support it can provide for each disease, as it is based on the funding it raises each year through grants and contributions. CDF receives no government assistance. It measures its effectiveness in the delivery of co-pay assistance by Direct-To-Patient Assistance (DTPA). This measures how many cents of each dollar we receive that goes directly to funding out-of-pocket costs on a calendar year basis. Currently, CDF maintains a DTPA of 91% — the highest in the industry. CDF has helped cover over $600 million in co-pay assistance.

Eligibility
- Patient must reside in the US
- Patient must financially qualify with public or private insurance, and be unable to afford the cost of their specialty therapeutics.

HealthWell Foundation, founded in 2003, is an independent, non-profit organization that provides financial assistance to eligible individuals to cover coinsurance, copayments, health care premiums and deductibles for certain medications and therapies. If an insured patient has been prescribed a medication and cannot afford the coinsurance or copayment required, the HealthWell Foundation may be able to help by paying for part of the costs associated with the medication. Also, if a patient is eligible for health insurance, but cannot afford the insurance premium, HealthWell may be able to help with the costs of the insurance premium.

HealthWell Foundation receives donations from a number of sources in and outside of the health care industry, including pharmaceutical manufacturers and other health care organizations and individuals. HealthWell Foundation has already provided financial assistance to over 150,000 patients.

Eligibility

- Patient must have some form of health insurance that covers part of the cost of his/her medication.
- Patient must have diagnosis that is currently on the list of covered conditions.
- Financial criteria are based upon multiples of the federal poverty level, which takes into account a family’s size. Families with incomes up to four times (400%) of the federal poverty level may qualify.

The American Kidney Fund (AKF) was founded in 1971 and leads the nation in providing charitable assistance to dialysis patients who need help with the costs associated with treating kidney failure. In 2011, nearly 90,000 people—almost 1 out of every 4 dialysis patients in the United States—received assistance from the American Kidney Fund for health insurance premiums and other treatment-related expenses.

Through the Health Insurance Premium Program (HIPP), the American Kidney Fund pays Part B Medicare, Medigap, commercial, and COBRA premiums for dialysis patients who have insufficient income and savings. These premium payments allow patients to continue their health insurance coverage, enabling access to physician care and medical treatment.

Eligibility

- Applicants must be dialyzed in the U.S. or its territories and referred to AKF by their renal social worker and/or nephrologist.
- Applicants must demonstrate that they can't afford health coverage and meet the program's financial eligibility criteria.
- Primary and secondary assistance is available only. HIPP does not assist with tertiary coverage of any kind.
- Transplant patients are not eligible for HIPP. HIPP enrollees will no longer be eligible for premium assistance after they receive a kidney transplant.
