A. Background and Purpose

Background

Virginia is in the midst of a mental health crisis in the public and private sectors, caused by the COVID-19 pandemic, societal stressors and a shortage of licensed behavioral health (BH) professionals. Those who exist are overwhelmed and many Virginians are unable to get the help they need.

The shortage of BH professionals is not a new problem. Seventy percent (70%) of Virginia is a federally-designated Mental Health Professional Shortage Area (MHPSA) with nearly 40% of Virginians living in these communities. The severity of the shortage is, however.

The gravity and nature of the BH workforce shortage is clear in an Assessment of the Capacity of Virginia's Behavioral Health Workforce, released by the Virginia Health Care Foundation (VHCF) in January 2022. Not only are there insufficient numbers of needed behavioral health professionals, the race and ethnicity of those practicing is not proportionate to the population of Virginia. With coming retirements of a high percentage of them, demand is expected to continue to outpace available services for at least the next decade.

One significant barrier faced by many who want to become licensed in Virginia as a Licensed Clinical Social Worker (LCSW) or Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC) is the financial cost of the required clinical supervision hours, about $10,000 and $20,000, respectively.

Many Supervisees in Social Work and Residents in Counseling must pay out-of-pocket for Supervision. This financial burden makes it impossible for them to pursue Supervision, while meeting basic living expenses and paying back student loans. As a result, every year there are Masters graduates who want to become licensed in Virginia, but are unable to do so.

To help address this barrier and increase the availability of basic mental health services, the General Assembly and the Virginia Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Services (DBHDS) have recently funded Boost 200, a new special initiative to accelerate licensure of 200 LCSWs and LPCs (100 of each) by paying for the Supervision hours required for their licensure.

Boost 200 is administered by VHCF (www.vhcf.org), a public-private partnership, is deeply invested in increasing access to basic mental health services for Virginians. To date, VHCF has invested more than $10 million to make licensed behavioral professionals, tele-mental health services and behavioral health best practices, such as integrated and trauma-informed care, available throughout the Commonwealth.

Purpose

The purpose of Boost 200 is twofold. It will immediately result in 200 Masters-prepared individuals under Supervision, providing mental health services to help meet the skyrocketing demand. Simultaneously, it will help accelerate licensure of 100 more LCSWs and 100 more LPCs.

B. Boost 200 Eligibility Requirements/Priority Categories

- Masters-prepared Social workers or Counselors; Residents in Counseling licensed by the Virginia Department of Health Professions (DHP); and current Supervisees in Social Work approved by the DHP may apply for Boost 200.
- All applicants must pay out-of-pocket for all or most of their licensure-required Supervision; have applied to the DHP to begin Supervision and also:
 - ✓ Be eligible to work in the US for any employer without Visa sponsorship;
 - ✓ Be free from judgements arising from federal or state debt; and
 - ✓ Not have any existing service obligations with other entities loans or scholarships.
- Preference and more favorable consideration will be given to eligible applicants who are practicing or will practice in one of the 93 Virginia localities designated as a Mental Health Professional Shortage Area or a person of color or bilingual.
- Preference will also be given to eligible applicants who are just starting their journey to licensure, however, applicants who have completed no more than 60% of the required clinical and Supervision hours to become licensed as an LCSW or LPC in Virginia will also be considered. This is:
 - ✓ Up to 1800 Clinical hours/60 Supervision hours for Supervisees in Social Work.
 - ✓ Up to 2040 Clinical hours/120 Supervision hours for Residents in Counseling.
- Interested candidates who do not meet the three preference criteria noted above are also encouraged to apply.

Note: Boost 200 applicants are responsible for identifying and securing a Supervisor.

C. Applicant Commitments

All Boost 200 applicants (social workers and counselors) must commit to the following:

- A 2-year full-time (40 hours per week; 4,000 hours total) service obligation in Virginia, once licensed as an LCSW or LPC;
- Completing the clinical hours and Supervision hours (LCSW: 3,000/100; LPC: 3,400/200) required for licensure in Virginia in a timely fashion and without delay;
- Reporting the number of clinical (direct/ancillary) and Supervision hours completed to VHCF monthly via a tracking tool provided by the Foundation;
- Participating in Boost 200 Orientation, up to 3 Roundtables, evaluation of the initiative and marketing/promotion; and
- Taking the DHP-required licensure exam no later than 4 months after completing Supervision hours (refer to the DHP Licensure Handbook for Counselors and DHP Licensure Handbook for Social Workers for requirements and process).

In addition, Residents in Counseling must submit their application for LPC Licensure by Examination within 2 weeks of passing their licensure exam.

D. Applying for Boost 200

Interested applicants must complete the online Boost 200 application and attach the required materials (<https://tinyurl.com/VHCF-Boost200>). Paper applications will not be accepted.

The Boost 200 application gathers the applicant's personal, contact, financial and demographic information; education and work experience; and Supervision information.

Complete will applications also include a Personal Statement, current resume and Recommendation Form completed by someone who supervised the applicant for at least 100 internship hours and is familiar with their clinical skills.

- Boost 200 applications will be accepted and reviewed on a rolling basis, until all funding is obligated.
- Award decisions will be communicated to all applicants.
- Incomplete applications will not be considered.

Note: a .pdf preview of the application is available on the Boost 200 website.

E. Boost 200 Enrollment
